The results of the plasma wave instrument onboard DS-1 and the encounter with comet P/Borrelly will be reviewed for the first time. Particular attention will be paid to signatures of dust impacts onto the spacecraft body. The paper will discuss a new model of dust-spacecraft interactions. Estimates of dust size and spatial density distributions will be given.