The SIM Astrometric Reference Grid
For: Astronomical Data Analysis Software and System (ADASS) Conference

The Space Interferometry Mission (SIM) requires the use of a whole-sky reference grid of approximately 3000 stars, known to 4 microarcseconds. An overview of the process of obtaining the grid and solving the resulting large matrix problem will be presented