

The Palomar Testbed Interferometer
Charles A. Beichman
Infrared Processing & Analysis Center/Jet Propulsion Laboratory

The Palomar Testbed Interferometer (PTI) started preliminary operation in Summer 1995, making measurements of single and binary stars as faint as K=5 msg. Some preliminary results from the interferometer will be presented, and future plans for the facility discussed,