However, any user can easily make SPICE kernel files.

Extension and adaptation of this core system to encompass broader functionality and to meet specific needs of new customers is an ongoing endeavor. The NAIF Group solicits suggestions for improvements from the astronomical community.