Observing Solar System Targets with the SIRTF Infrared Array Camera (IRAC)

We present mid-infrared observations of solar system objects (SSO’s) at 3.6, 4.5, 5.8, and 8.0 microns. These objects have been observed during the initial calibration and verification phase of the SIRTF mission. We also provide specifications on spacecraft tracking of moving objects.