

Chasing Solar Eclipses

Stephen J. Edberg
Jet Propulsion Laboratory
California Institute of Technology

Over the past 28 years of eclipse chasing I have accumulated more than 30 minutes in the Moon's inner shadow. Each experience was unique and required careful planning prior to the travel to what was usually an exotic place. I will share my observations and anecdotes from eclipse expeditions on six continents, the South China Sea, and on and above the Pacific Ocean.